DAILY GAZETTE. 1860 Popular Goods 1860

From the New York Tribune, Jan. 10. Statement of Affairs at Charleston by the Steamer Marion.

The steamer Marion, of Spoiford & Tiles ton's Charleston line, arrived at her dock resterday morning. She brings forty or fifty passengers, among whom are twenty three free colored persons, and four men honorably discharged, we are told, who have recently been at work at Fort Sump-Capt. Adkins says the freight was principally cotton and rice. He states that the excitement among the Charlestonians and the state volunteers has been very much exaggerated—that he and other gentlemen connected with the steamship company have. invariably received pleasant and hospitable treatment, and that many civilities have been extended to them by the citizens and soldiery of Charleston. Many of the men employed at Charleston by the company send small parcels of rice as remittances to their families here, exchange being ruinously high.

Capt. Whiting's account of the ground-ing of the Marion on the North Breaker Shoal, some ten miles from Charleston, and the subsequent seizure of the vessel by the authorities, has already been made public. We now learn that the Marion went up to her Charleston dock without any colors hoisted. She had been in but a short time when orders came that the Palmetto fiag should be run up; this Capt. Whiting re-fused to do, and the owners prevailed upon one of the subordinates to hoist it. Great excitement prevailed throughout the city all night, from a runier that the Star of the West was in the offing; people crowded down to the docks, and the military were continually marching and counter-marching. When the firing from Fort Morris and Fort Moultrie commenced the next morning, the military were called out in full force. About 10 o'clock Capt. Whiting was no tified that he must give up the ship. No-tice was at the same time given to the hands on board that they would be call-ed together at o P. M., when a proposi-tion would be submitted to them. At that time they were told that all who wished could stay on board, and those who did not want to stay could get their money and go One of them spoke up and said to those who had taken the ship, that they were bound to send the men back to where they came from. "Don't you know we could keep you here, if we chose?" said Messroon, the agent for the Charleston owners. Finally, all agreed that they would stay on the ship. Still there was a good deal of discontent among them, and they began to declare to each other soon after that they would not go on the errand of capturing the Star of the West.

On Thursday the work of altering the vessel to fit her for the contemplated piratical expedition was commenced, and some damage was done in the attempt to raze her forward, the saw-cuts being visible and the furniture of the vessel having suffered to some extent. At 11 o'clock word came that two 18 pounders were to be put in. Capt. Whiting responded, saying the Marion was too light for gurs of that size. They then said they would put in two 12 pounders.

About this time Capt. Whiting was asked to take charge of fitting her up for, and to command her on an expedition in pursuit of the Star of the West. That evening all hands left the ship and asked for their mon-ey. They would not go on the expedition. The next day the orders for putting the Marion on a war footing were countermanded, and others given to put her in her old condition, and it was given out that she would start on her return trip to New York on Sunday morning, upon which all hands from Charleston with an order to seize a Mr. Gradded, a free colored man, and one of the most experienced pilots of the port of Charleston, who, with his wife and mother, had taken passage for New York. It was said it was done under the direction of the governor, and the excuse made was that he was an old harbor pilot; that he had left his late employer under short notice;

and that it was suspected he was coming

They took him away at six o'clock'on Tuesday evening, in a boat be-longing to the Marion. He denied the charge preferred against him. His wife and mother (the latter is Indian blooded) followed the next morning.

As to the condition of the garrison in Ft. Sumpter, we learn that they are in good spirits; number 75 men, rank and file, and 25 laborers; have plenty of provisions and water, and a scarcity only of fresh provisions and market truck.

During the approach of the Star of the West, and the firing upon her from Morris Island, Major Anderson ordered the ports fronting Fort Moultrie and Morris Island to be opened, and the guns were unlimbered. As the firing continued, one of the Lieutenants who commanded a heavy gun entreated Major Anderson to let him "give 'em just one shot." "Be patient," was the only reply from the commander, who re-

Hon. C. C. WASHBURN.

We learn from Washington that on Tuesday Mr. Washburn advocated the minority report, made by himself and Mr. Tappan of New Hampshire, as members of the committee of thirty-three.

We have already published the resolution presented to the house by Mr. W. and his colleague on the committee, which has also been proposed in our legislature as the sentiment of Wisconsin in relation to pending national difficulties. The substance of it is -the constitution of the United States as it is-no amendment giving slavery guarantees, and opposition to the admission of New Mexico at this time.

Mr. Washburn deserves the thanks of his constituents of this district for his faithful adherence to principle during the whole of his congressional career. He has never faltered, but has always been firm and courageous. He has never shirked the labors or legislation, but has stood at his post, unffinchingly discharging his duty to his constituents and the country. The republicans of his district have ever relied implicitly upon him, knowing that he would always be on hand to vote on all measures, whether important or not, and perfectly certain that his votes would be RIGHT—as they always

His position on the committee of thirtythree, composed mostly of slave holders and northern compromisers, has been one which | 14. was calculated to try his devotion to principle to the utmost; but through the whole he has remained firm—has not wavered a hair in the support of republican doctrine, and retires from the committee with honor untarnished, and with the respect and confidence of his entire constituency.

On behalf of the staunch republicans of Rock county-and there are none truer on the face of the earth-we tender him thanks for the manly, dignified, and courageous manner in which he has represented them on the floor of the house.

Post Blaster General.

One appointment very extensively recommended to President Lincoln we earnestly hope will be made. That appointment is Mr. Colfax as postmester general. With a western president, and the unwavering republican character of the western states, those states may reasonably expect an honorable and influential position in the new cabinet. The personal wishes of the Presprompt this. The west is already a power in the Union which the next apportionment of congressmal representatives will largely increase. Any position in the cabinet would be useful, but, under the peculiar circomstances of this section of the country, and the former settled policy of the govthe post office. Heretofore this department has been confided to an eastern or southern man, too frequently the latter. Conceding states the mail facilities they need, there to. While ample facilities have been grantthe southern states have been a beavy text ers in language and lineage. With Mr. Colfax, who has served in the imand become familiar with the details of our postal arrangements, and his knowledge of the west, we might confidently expect such an administration of the post office department as would remedy the inequalities

By all means, let Mr. Colfax, or some other competent western man, be entrusted with the management of the mails.

South Carolina vs. New York .-- A statement in the New York papers shows that there are now on deposit in the Savings Bank of New York, more than fifty million of dollars-about $11,000,000 more than there was two years ago. The poor of New York will stand considerable South Carolina bluster, before they will give up to traitors through fear of starvation.

The N. Y. Tribune's Charleston correspondent under date of Jan. 12, 1861, says: "The Savings Bank suspended payment this morning. This shows the extreme pressure in money matters, which is now the great difficulty in the affairs of the New Empire. This suspension has spread great consternation among a great number: of poor families, whose only resources were deposited in this bank. Large numbers of house servants are among the number; their indignation and grief cannot be sup-

The proposition of Senator Powell to make the Crittenden amendment read, that all territory "now held or hereafter acquired" south of 36° 30' shall be slave territory, and property in slaves protected therein as other property, was adopted by a vote of 29 to 25-Douglas among the ayes. The amendments were then laid upon the table; but, on motion of Cameron, of Pa., they were taken up, and have since been the subject of discussion, without coming to a vote.

VOTE IN THE CAUCUS.—The nomination of Judge Howe was made on the first ballot Tuesday evening, and the eighth including previous cancuses.

When the Crittenden-Douglas-Pow ell amendment to the constitution is adopted, if will be called a mulatto constitution, and will be fit only for northern half breed pro-slaveryites to live under. The people will then go in for a white man's constitu-

Some debate arose on a bill changing a law of last winter, which allowed only cents a day to talesmen on juries, so as to give them the same as those who serve as grand and petit jurors. The committee recommended the passage of the bill.

A bill making the county board instead of the circuit court, the final arbiter of claims against counties was also discussed at length by Senators Bennett and Joiner in favor, and Senators Browne, Sweet, Quinten, Hazelton and Cunning against.— Its indefinite postponement was recommen-

When the committee rose the bill regulating appeals from county boards of supervisors was taken up. Its indefinite post-ponement was refused by a vote of 13 to 14. San Hutchinsin moved to lay on the table. There was a tie vote, the Lieut. Governor voting in the negative, the senate refused to lay on the table. The bill was then ordered to a third reading by a vote of 16 to Several bills were ordered to a third reading, and the senate then went into joint convention for election of U.S. senator. In the Assembly-Mr. Graham gave notice that he should introduce a bill to increase the duties of the clerks of poards of supervisors, in relation to delinquent taxes. Some time was spent in committee of the whole, Mr. Spooner in the chair. There was considerable debate on a bill prohibit ing paupers from voting except in the towns where they properly belong, but no disposition was made with it.

The joint convention of the two houses was then held in the assembly chamber, for the election of U. S. Schator, the result of which has been heretofore stated.

An Eloquent Speech from a Virginia Member.

Hon. SHERRAD CLEMENS, member of con gress from the Wheeling district, made an eloquent speech on Tuesday in the house The telegraphic synopsis is as follows:

He believed before God that slavery it will have the death rattle in its throat. identical well as the claims of justice will It remained to be seen whether treason can be carried on. There was a brave, a holy in the slave states. Lazarus i not dead, but sleepoth. He asked no favor for the south, but demanded that justice only that springs from honest magnanimi-North Carolina, which first proclaimed independence, and Virginia which gave birth to it, were allied to Massachusetts.

He believed there yet lingers a patrioternment, we know of no department that ism which will save the country, whose glowould be more beneficial to the west than ry belongs to us all. Will you be appealed to to step forward in a spirit which made our fathers illustrious, and not shut out every access of sympathy? Clemens showed that the law of population governed the a disposition to give the new and growing question, and how it was population and taken the mail facilities they need there capital the south wanted, not territory. He showed the object of the southern confedhas been a great lack of knowledge of their eracy was to open the African slave trade. ARMS AND EQUIPMENTS FOR THE STATE OF NEW YORK-GOING TO WORK IN EARN-EST .- Mr. Fiero's bill, introduced in the senate of New York, provides for appropriating $500,000 for the purpose of procuring arms and equipments, for the use of the militia of that state.

The funds are to be expended under the direction of the commander-in-chief in the purchase of such arms and equipments as he shall deem most appropriate for the purpose of efficiently arming the Militia of the state.

Mr. Spinola also introduced a bill for the more perfect organization of the military

WIFE VERSUS LADY .- It is certainly not n good taste for a gentlemen to speak of in good tasee for a genuenten to speak of his wife as his lady, or to register their names upon the books of a hotel as "John Smith and lady," or to ask a friend, "How is your lady?" This is all fashionable vulgarity, and invariably betrays a lack of cultivation. The term wife is far more beau-tiful and appropriate and refined, whatever may be said to the contrary. Suppose a lady were to say, instead of "my husband," "my gentleman," or suppose we were to speak of "Mrs. Fitz Maurice and gentleman." The thing would be positively ludicrous, and its obverse is none the less so, it ightly considered. A man's wife is his wife, and not his lady. We marvel that this latter term is not ulterly tabooed in such a connection, at least by educated and intelligent people. It ought to left for the exclusive use of the codfish aristocracy,

> Between eleven and twelve o'clock on Monday night, the house of Wm. Costigan caught fire in the town of Menomonee, Wankesha county, about twelve miles from this city, and the house was soon entirely consumed, together with four of his child ren, two boys and two girls, aged from four to ten years. Mr. Costigan was post master at that point, and also had a store adjoining the dwelling part, although the store and the dwelling were all in one building. Mr. C. and his wife were sitting up at the time, and the first they knew of the fire was by the smoke and flame bursting into the room of one of his sons, who was asleep up stairs, in the room adjoining that of the children's who were burned. He ran down to alarm his parents, and getting a pail of water, re turned to the children's room, and met his sister about eighteen years old, all in flames and shricking for help. He threw the pail of water over her, and extinguished the fire that was fast endangering her life. She went down stairs, while he attempted to get into the children's room, and in so doing got himself burned almost to death. His hair and eye brows were burned all off, and his face and neck and hands and arms were seciously burned. He then ran down and got out doors, and attempted to get into the window, but as he broke open the window the flames burst out and drove him back, and the poor children were consumed. All who were in the house had a narrow escape from burning up. Mr. C. had a fine place, and his total loss of house, goods, and other property, was in the neighborhood of $3,000. Some of the dry goods were saved, and he had an insurance of $1,100. Urus, turned of wood and covered with acorns, form one of the most attractive objects of a green-house. They may be suspended from the coiling, and vines let to drop gracefully down around them from earthen pots set in the cavity of the urn on top. The form of a great acorn is perhaps one of the neatest that can be employed for this purpose. The acorns are fastened to the wooden model, or urn, by means of a finishing tack with small head. Varnish the acorns after they are put on. No prettier devices can be conceived of for the plants that are to decorate the sitting room or parlor during winter. Little things of this kind have a greater effect on the inmates of a house than most persons are aware of. They are small now, but as years roll by their influence increases as the wave made by a pebble in a smooth lake.

U. S. SENATOR.—The telegraph informs us of the election of Judge Howe as senator from this state for the next six years.

Judge Howe was not our candidate; but he received the nomination, and was elected by the votes of the republican members of the legislature. We must therefore be content with the result; and we are content. When men submit to party organizations, they must abide the operations of those organizations; and if the man whom we prefer for an of fice does not have the support of a majori y of the party before whom he presents his claims, he must submit with grace to the decision he has contributed to make. After the nomination of Judge Howe, and before his election, he made a speech at Madison, wherein he is reported to have said that the republican standard in his hands should never be lowered. Let him abide by that sentiment, and we shall not only submit to his elevation, but support and appland his official career .-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. Letters received from Paris by the Asia state that on New Year's day the emperor, Louis Napoleon, at the official presentation of the diplomatic corps, expressed to Mr. Faulkner, the American minister, the hope that no states had separated or would sep arate from the general government of the Union. The emperor also expressed the wish that the United States might long continue a united and prosperous people

THE NEW SENATOR FROM WISCONSIN .-In an article published some days ago in this paper, a brief sketch of the several candidates for senator was given. The portion relating to Judge Howe was in some respects incorrect, and we subjoin a more accurate account :

Timothy Otis Howe was born in Oxford county, Maine, in 1818, and is consequently in his 44th year. The Washburns were neighbors, or lived but three or four miles distant, and the recent rival candidates for senator were boys together. After receiving a classical education, Mr. Howe studied law and entered upon the practice of his profession at Readfield, Kennebec county There he became acquainted an formed an intimate friendship with Lot M. Morrill, just elected to the senate from Maine, which has continued to the present

In his native state he served one or two terms in the legislature, Wm. Pitt Fessen-den being a member of the same body at the same time.

In 1840, he came to this state, then a territory, and opened a law office at Green Bay. in 1850 he was elected judge of the circuit and supreme court, since which time his career in the state is familiar to all.

As a lawyer he ranks among the first in the state, and as a public speaker he has no superior in perspicuity of style and clear ness of reasoning. His manner when speaking is not unlike that of Mr. Lincoln; deberate, candid, and appealing to the reason and conscience of his hearers, rather than to their passions and prejudices .- Madison NATCHEZ, Miss., Jan. 12. I suppose that I am now out of the Unied States-and yet I feel very comfortable. Our friends here talk savagely, and they hang an abolitionist or so about every fortnight (which deeds the papers do not record) --and they order suspected parties leave;" and they vow vengeance against all northern traffic and intercourse; but down at the bottom of their hearts they love us better than they do any other foreign people on the face of the globe. The division which exists here among the people, as to whether secession has been accomplished, or can be, without a submission of the ordinance to the people, as well as the strong majority in favor of a Union, is a sort of anchor—and besides, what may be the action of the border states, give a trifle of en-couragement to a trifle of hope. Yet I fear that the alternative now presented by Mississippi is that of independence or death. Practical questions occur to me, which you may have long ago discussed—for we seem to get no northern mail-such as: How will they govern the confederacy hoped for and partly inaugurated? Petty states, or a confederation with a constitution like our old one? How much better will they be off, on all disputed points (the negro ex-cepted). For example—Mississippi wants ree trade, and Louisiana a duty Will not such disagreements as these united with the strong minority opposed to secession, work badly for the infant government? And if these shall be petty independent states, how long before a Garihaldi will be forged to reconstruct another Italy?

GARIBALDI IN RETIREMENT.-The New York Post's Paris correspondent writes:
The pleasant story of the elegant villa and well planted garden which the kind-ness of Victor Emanuel was said to have called into being, to greet the eyes of Garribaldi on his return to his rocky islet of Caprera, is declared by one of the Liberator's recent guests to be an utter invention. The general's house is, in fact, a badly constructed cottage, with paved floors, rough walls and leaky roof, and boasts no furni ture better than deal tables, iron bedsteads and rickety chairs. Over Garibaldi's bed is a medallion hanging from a nail, and containing the hair of his heroic and devoted wife, Anita. From another nail (drawn out from a cask,) hangs the general's watch In the little chest of drawers at the foot of the bed are his clothes, linen, &c., pell mel with the tattered flags presented to him by his followers. His sword and fire arms are hung upon the walls. Garibaldi's annua income is under five hundred dollars, ye he extends a cordial though homely wel come to the guests who visit him. His youngest daughter is with him, and the lady who was formerly her governess lives there still, with her own daughter, and acts as house-keeper. A farmer has established himself there, with his family, and lives in a cottage near the general's. This man directs the management of the cultivated portion of the island; his family helping him in the work of the farm, in which Gari-baldi, his secretary and the persons of his family all take part. The general's estate hoasts a small mill for grinding his wheat, a few acres of wheat fields, some beds of vegatables near the house, and a few plan-tations of vines, which he is anxiously en-deavoring to coax into growing. He has a great desire to possess a yacht, and one is to be bought by subscription and presented to him by his admirers. At present the only object of luxury he possesses is a piano, on which his daughter slways plays o him after their frugal dinner, often singng patriotic Italian songs, in which all the mates join.

The only other inhabitant of the island is a misanthropic lady, who owns the rest of the island, and has built herself a little house, in which she has remained shut up for the last five years.

P. H. GRANT. jan18d2w JAS. LONG. DOUGLAS & SHERWOOD'S W SKIRT STITC Patented June 26, 1860. Thas been a source of great annoyance and trouble to properly secure the tapes of Skeleton Skirts to the hoops, and every means heretofore used has its dis-naivantages, as all wearers of Skirts know by experience.

Sewing Tapes to the Hoops by the usual thread and needle process was first tried, and it was found that the carelessnoss of the worker, in putting too few stitches and not fastening the threads well, worked so much against this plan that it was finally thrown aside, to be superseded by Clasped Skirts.

This appeared to work well at first, but the classe could come of, and a lady could be traced by the little pieces of brass and tin she left in her path, consequently classes were condemned and Woven Skirts were introduced, and were found to answer a very good purpose, in preventing the hoops and tapes from separ-ating; but in spite of all the manifold applications of Glue, Gutta-Percha, &c., the tapes would slip on the steels, and as many have experienced, would very fre-quently all slip to one piace, causing great annoyance and sometimes danger to the wearer. Knotted Skirts came next in order. They were found to have the sam objections as the woven, only in a loss degree. The troubles and vexualions skirt wearers sustaine through all these trials caused many to wish for the day when Hooped Skirts would go out of fashion, but the introduction of

has given new hope to the wearer; for after a thorough trial of a season it has proved to be the only mode that can be relied upon—the braid in the strape being so interwoven with the covering of the steel, that it, it impossible for it to move from its place, as the Woven and Fractical Shirts do: and the saving of the head through the saving of the provident through Resident Skirts do: und the sewing of the braid through itself, atter passing around the steel, prevents all possi bility of the steel getting loose, from it, as the Sawes and Chaped Skirts do. It in fact overcomes every ob-jection hereofore raised against the various plans used The Belle of the South, manufactured by us, is made with this stitch, to which has lattle been added a very superior mode of tipping the Hustle Steels, to prevent them from coming through the cloth tabs. These two great improvements, with the very complete manner in which every part of the skirt is finished, gives us confidence in submitting it to the ladies as the

Most Perfect and Reliable Skirt ever offered for their approval, and we respectfully in-vite them to examine it before purchasing other kinds. THE ILLINOIS BANKS AND MERCHANTS. -The merchants and business men of Illinois are engaged in an effort to improve the quality of their bank currency, through the action of the legislature, providing some method for a more speedy and accessible redemption in coin. We have not seen the bill proposed and pending in the legislature, but find in the Milwaukee Free Democrat the following propositions submitted by the banks as a basis of compromise:

1st. That they are willing to redeem at 1 per cent. their circulation, at three points, viz: Chicago, Springfield and Cairo.
2d. That they will establish a Clearing House at Chicago, with a capital of one million of dollars, subscribed pro rata to the

The Snow Storm.

Last night, when the lights of the village
First kindled along the hill.
And teams that were late with their meal-grists
Came toiling up from the mill;
Slowly drifting and felling,
Like dust from the miller's fan.
On the gelda, and the reads and fences,
The winter's storm began.

The boy looked out from the window, Away o'er the dusky plain;
"It snows," he cried to his sister,
"Gome listen sgainst the pane."
Drifting it fell and whirling,
Like foam where the mill wheel goes;
And the boy went out with his sister
And shouted, "It enows, it snows!"

Out through the half-open doorway
They peep forth into the night;
It dashed its brenth into their faces,
And darkened the flickering light;
In the dusk they shouted, "On, mother,
The valley is white below,
And teams that go from the miller's
We sourcely can see for the snow!".

Then the voice of the gray haired gran-dame Wa heard through the whispering gloom, while the dancing flame of the fire-light Fleeked shedows along the room:
"Come hither," she spake, "my darlings, The fire at my hearth is warm;
Let us think while the snows are drifting Of the shelterless lambs in the storm."

All night on the house-tops failing
The soft flakes fluttered down:
And the church-bell's voice grow husky
From the weight of his frosty crown:
But when the first gleam of daylight
Through the darkness began to steal
He shook it down from his forehead
And shouted a gladsome peal.

But the hosts of the mail-clad storm-king
Had trimmphed throughout the night,
And the banners and blades of Autumn
Were crushed in the bitter fight;
But when the red glory of sunrise
Was unfurted in the east again,
There was smoke on the edge of the hill-top,
And a glimmer of spears on the plain.

And the children, the merry children,
Who saw the lights on the hill,
When teams that were late with their meal-grists
Came todling up from the mill;
When the 'intry soows are falling,
And the free on the hearth is warm,
liay they think of the prayer of their grand-dame
For the whelteriess fambs in the storm.

For Hemacan is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of discase which might otherwise escape attention, illt too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Handaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Intopathic. Symptomatic headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of agrest variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, fout, kheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of diseases of the stomach constituting sick headache, of bepatic disease constituting tithous headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and utterine affections. Biseases on the heart are very frequently atdisorders of the lowels, as well as renal and uterine aftections. Biseases of the heart are very frequently attended with heathcles; Amemia and plettora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Intiopathic headache is also very common, being assally distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming, on fauldedly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by degression of spirits or accritity of tamper.—
In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both cyes, and sometimes providing comiting; under this class may also be named Neuralpia.

For the treatment of either class of headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute palls in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which headache is the unerring index.

BRIDGE — Missns wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Clue, no, a bottle of prepared Pills,—but Pin thinking that's not just I melither; but perhaps yo'll be afther knowing what is it. Yo see sho's nigh dead and gone with the sick headsche, and wants some more of that same as relatived her before.

Druggist.—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

Bridget.—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarter and give me the pills and don't be all day about it aither.

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many IIIs flesh is heir to" is so preva-lent, so little-funderstood, and so much neglected as costiveness. Often originating in cardessness, or scien-tary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, white in reality it is the precursor indi companion of many of the most fard and langerous diseases, and unless curly eradicated it will bridge the sufferer to an untimely graye. Among the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal did dangerous diseases, and unless curly eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely gravo. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are diseasche; Colic, Albeumatiam, Foul Breath, Flice, and others of like nature, while a long train of fright in diseasces such as Malignant Fevers, Abecases, Dysentary, Diarrheas, Dyseppin, Apoplexy, Epilopey, Puralysis, Hysteria, Hyspechondriasis, Melancholy, and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this starming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases maned originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the discarder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a bay of Cephalic Pilis on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insiduous approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Physician.—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is your headache?

Mrs. Jones.—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the plll you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send more so that I can have them heady.

Physician.—You can get them at any Druggists.—Call for Cephalle Pills, I ind they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of headache. commend them in all cases of heudache.

Mrs. Jones.—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

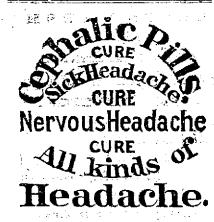

TWENTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SAVED.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his glue, headache will soon vanish away like snow in July.

The Over Exercises, and the mental care and auxiety incident to close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of nervous headache. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this discressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers by this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks, by using one of the Cephalle Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and scothes the strained and farring nerves, and reluxes the tension of the stometh which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

a certain cure for Sick Headache, Blitons Headach Nervous Readache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOURSE.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox, the Cephalic Pill for relief of headache, and the use of Quinine for the prevention of fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose bonefits will be experienced by suffering luminarity long after their discoverers are forgotten.

Did you ever have the sick headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the favered brow, the tearhing and disput at the sight of food. How totally unit you were for pleasure, conversation or study.—One of the Cephalic Pills would have releved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Ner-coin or Sick Headacks may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained,

They seldom fall in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject. They act gently upon the bowels,-removing Confine

For Literary, Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxctive, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long thres, lgation and carefully conducted experiments, having seen in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach. They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect fafety without making any change of dist, and the absence of any dis agreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to chil-
